After the War.

Speculations as to the state of American politics after the storm of war shall have accomplished its errand and left our national horizon clear again, not too positive assertions as to what clear residuum shall be left from the agitating questions which have been smelting in the crucibles of this contest, would not seem entitled to confident acceptance, so long as the nation has no prophet who can, with reasonable assurance, fix the date of the termination of this war, or determine all the issues that may become involved in it, ere it closes. But the nature and tendency of the contest, and the effects which have already followed its progress, enable us to predict some of its general political results with something like certainty. We may consider it certain that the questions at issue in the last campaign will be removed from the theater of political contest, as points in dispute between two great bodies of citizens. The Boston Courier says that a great moral contest is going on in the country which "consists now, and will consist still more, in the practical abandonment of past issues, which have been the most efficient in dividing the people." It is true that there is "a practical abandonment of past issues," because past issues among loyal citizens, upon both sides, was for the establishment of a national policy upon those questions in the Union, and under the Constitution, and therefore to oppose any effort to overthrow the Union and the Constitution was the higher and common interest of both these differing parties. The question of the relations of slavery in the Union and under the Constitution cannot remain practically at issue, unless the Union and the Constitution are maintained. When they are assailed, questions of administrative policy under them must be laid aside until the continued existence and integrity of the government itself are assured. These reasons would be sufficient for the abandonment of past issues "now," and for these reasons they might be abandoned now, without any practical settlement of the questions at issue themselves. But we believe that there will be a "practical abandonment" of these questions "still more," when we shall have gone through this contest, because these questions are not only removed from the issue by the necessities of the struggle for the maintenance of the Union, but will be practically settled by its developments and results. As maintaining themselves upon questions of national policy upon points in dispute between their own and other political organizations, all political parties among the masses of our loyal citizens are dead, because the matters at issue are removed. What was merely of partisanship, of prejudice, of ignorance and mistake, of greed for office and power, let us hope is dead with those dead issues, but whatever was of patriotism, of honest and true principle, of the moral instinct of the great heart of the people, is still existent, to be in the future, as in the past, a living and regenerating power in the politics of the nation.

By the "great moral revolution" which is going on in the country, the Courier (before quoted) says that it means "that slavery will be left alone, politically, to follow the laws of nature—to be again, as it formerly was, merely a moral issue of a political party of discussion, and to await the destiny assigned by heaven." The Courier's title definition of our "moral revolution" may involve large subject for comment, and may be susceptible of different interpretations, as viewed through different mediums. In the view of a very large number of the inhabitants of the rebellious portion of this country, to "let slavery alone, politically," is to let it alone to assume all the phases and magnitude, and control all the interests of the nation, which its advocates the Davis, Toombs and Wigfall stripe desire it to assume and control; and for slavery to "follow the laws of nature" and await the destiny assigned by heaven "is, in the opinion of this class of our fellow citizens, for it to be planted and fostered wherever nature will suffer the cupidity of man to be rewarded by making cattle of human beings, and for it to grow to be the great idol which the American people of the slave in the holiest places of their national temple, and before which they shall always be ready to fall down and worship. But this cannot be, and this rebellious class of our people must moderate their former views, when they accept the important fact which we are endeavoring to convince them of, that the Union is a reality; for else the "moral revolution" cannot bring the termination of slavery agitation in our politics.

In order that the slavery question may remain "merely a moral issue of a political party of discussion," it is necessary that the number of those who contend that all their neighbors shall accept the doctrine of the intrinsic morality of slavery, shall not too nearly balance those who believe that "true philanthropy" seeks the final extinction of slavery, by peaceful means and moral and social enlightenment; else the moral question will be in danger of being involved in political action.

But if slavery shall be "let alone" by both Northern and Southern politicians—if it shall not seek for national recognition and to shape the policy of the government, but shall claim only "legitimate rights as a local institution"—it will be left alone, and the moral question will be in danger of being involved in political action.

A new Post Office has been established in Squaw, called Sargentville, and R. G. Sargent, Esq., appointed Post Master.

The editor of the Portland Courier thinks the common sewing machine a very good article to have with, but give him the regular clock to stay with.

A VISIT TO THE REGIMENTS.—Mr. J. H. Lyndo, of the Bangor Whig, last week visited the encampments of nearly all our Maine regiments in the vicinity of Washington, and gives a very interesting account of his visit in his paper of Monday. We extract the following with reference to the Fourth:

"The Fourth Maine are encamped a few rods from the Third, and at the time we were there, we were very much pleased with its appearance. Col. H. G. Berry enjoyed the confidence and good will of the men to a remarkable extent, and the regiment seemed contented and happy, and under most excellent discipline. Since then, owing to the villany of outsiders, assisted by some in the camp, dissatisfaction sprung up in one or two companies, and some eighty or ninety misguided men refused to do duty. We believe that all but twenty or thirty have been the fully of their course, and have returned cheerfully to duty. It is probable that some of them will be severely punished. Capt. Charles B. Snaford, formerly of the steamer Sandford, and Mr. Zadok P. French of this city, are the 'honest adulterers' of this regiment, and their 'stomach'—rather modest accommodations—is the only articles necessary for the comfort of the soldiers. The healthy life, and we believe they like it.

In company with Captain Carver, (who has been a great deal on picket duty, and is acquainted with the country about there) and Mr. French, we went out to Bailey's Cross Roads, about half or three quarters of a mile from the rebel fort on Munson's Hill. We could distinctly see the rebel sentinels pacing backward and forward, and quite a large number of rebel soldiers were collected about the fort, evidently gazing at the reserve pickets located at Bailey's Cross Roads, where we were. At this point the rebel and federal pickets are not more than ten or twenty rods apart, in separate gun fields, and as sure as one shows himself from his hiding place, pop goes a musket, and nothing but miserable shooting keeps them from killing many a poor soldier while on duty. Occasionally, when gentlemen were there, the Captain of a Michigan regiment, and the leader of the Maine and Virginia Companies came over and they had a friendly talk. They exchanged cards, and returned, undoubtedly mutually regretting that they were enemies."

SEVERAL ACCIDENTS.—On Friday afternoon of last week, Mr. V. R. Perkins, of this city, was driving in a buggy, in company with another gentleman, and passed on the road a chaise in which was Mr. Keith of Thomaston. Mr. K. subsequently attempted to pass Mr. Perkins, and in doing so crowded so hard upon his carriage, that Mr. Perkins seeing his horse was being forced into the ditch, jumped from the buggy to escape an overturn, and fell, receiving a severe injury in the left hip, breaking or severely bruising some portion of the bone. He was brought home and attended by Dr. Fesabrook.

Those who are about refurbishing or decorating their dwellings with Carpets, should read the advertisements of the New England Carpet Company, of Boston, in to-day's paper.

KNOX COUNTY TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION.—The Knox County Association of the Sons of Temperance will hold its next quarterly session in this city, at the hall of Hyperion Division, S. of T., on Thursday of this week, commencing at 10 o'clock A. M. All members and visitors of the Order who choose to attend will be admitted to the session of the Association. It is to be hoped that the meetings will be well attended and that some benefit will result to the cause.

THE PRESIDENT'S FAST.—Thursday of this week is the day appointed for the national fast. The day will undoubtedly be very generally observed, as it ought. The several churches will unite in religious services at the Congregational Church, in the forenoon, and in the afternoon there will be appropriate services at each of the churches. We recommend that business be suspended on that day, that stores and workshops be closed (at least during the hours of divine service), and that there be a general attendance upon the appropriate services of the day. Attention is called to the Mayor's notice in another column.

TRAVEL ON THE SANFORD.—We observe that, notwithstanding the depressing influence of our national difficulties, the current of travel sets briskly over the outside route between Bangor and Boston. We found the saloons and freight-deck of the SANFORD, last week, as full as in better times. The popularity of this line is unabated. The superior qualities of the SANFORD, her excellent accommodations, the luxuries to be found at her table, the efficiency and gentlemanly courtesy of her officers, deserve for her the highest appreciation of the traveling public, and will not fail to continue to this line the patronage it enjoys.

COL. BERRY.—A report has been in circulation that Col. Berry, of the Maine Fourth, had resigned, but we are assured that the story is entirely without foundation. Col. Berry has proved himself an excellent officer, and will not leave his command.

MR. A. C. SPALDING, of this city, has received the appointment to a $1200 clerkship in the Pension Office, and will leave for Washington next week.

LOYD'S MILITARY MAP. We have received a copy of "Lloyd's Military Map and Gazetteer of the Southern States," elegantly colored, showing all the railroads, with their stations and distances, and giving all the counties, towns, villages, harbors, rivers and forts.
